In the city of Mumbai alone 200 thousand children go hungry every day and 3,000 children in India die every day from poor diet related illness. In India children go hungry in each state.

Madhya Pradesh has the highest number of starving children. Mumbai, the Financial Capital of India, where the rich and the famous live, to languish and earn their livelihood in form of huge wealth. There is another segment of people who go to office daily, travelling early morning, from suburbs to the main city, in local trains and buses and other modes of transport and travel back by late evening or night. They have no time to cook their lunch in the early hours of morning in a hurry. They are supplied lunch on their office tables by a huge and efficient brigade of Dhabbawalas. Most of the food is eaten but a considerable amount is wasted as well. Looking at the plight of the hungry children, a few people with empathy made an effort to meet the needs of the children. Anyone wants to share his/her Dabbafood can put a sticker, which is then transported to hungry children.

A Share Sticker can feed a child.

Share My Dabba Campaign Share My Dabba is an initiative to get food left over in Tiffins to hungry street children, using the dabba wala network. The initiative was conceived by McCann Mumbai, and is a non-profit collaboration between Happy Life Welfare Society and The Dabba wala Foundation. The link below presents a video giving details of the food transportation from the donor the beneficiary children and the Dabba Walas play a significantly benevolent role in feeding the hungry children in Mumbai.

The initiative has created happiness for the giver and receiver and wiped the tears of Hunger.

Why not look out in your neighborhood as well and see if you too can wipe the Tears of Hunger as these Tears are terrible and unbearable. A hungry child's brain suffers and a deprived body of nutrition hampers growth. His childhood is lost in pangs of hunger. He is unable to rise above the basics of life's facilities; food, shelter, water and hygienic toilet and education, his right to safety and security. A hungry child is denied of all these as he belongs to a very poor household or may be an orphan living on streets. So think today and wipe a tear tomorrow leaving a World with NO HUNGRY CHILD!
